and Lead mines and was still working the Lucky Boy at Custer, Ida.

The mining industry had been looking up during the past year on account of the influx of easiern capital; it was generally presperous; the advance in copper had stimulated it. More money would be taken out of the mines in the future than in the past, for the reason that they are being worked cheaper than formerly. Mines were worked with better judgment and on a larger scale. Mining was a legitimate and inviting industry for capital and when successfully conducted the profits were greater.

With regard to the money invested in the mining industry, the wage scale in vogue, the chances to save money by the miners and their moral and so-cial conditions, Mr. Hanauer took about the same stand and explained matters in the same way as did Mr. Chambers and Mr. Allen Wednezday.

Bingham Wages Explained. There was only one camp in Utah where wasees did not come up to the average, and that was Bingham. A profit of 15 or 50 cents a ton was considered a paying proposition on some characters of low-grade ore, and Bingham was an example of that kind of-samp, and that accounted for the disparity in wages as compared with other camps.

her camps. Men employed in the smelters for-Men employed in the smellers location merry contributed $1 a month each, and in consideration of that payment were given the choice of an accident insurance policy or hospital privileges. About 30 per cent of them took the in-mining claims to form big companies witness saw nothing detrimental to the industry in the scheme.

Mr. Terhune favored vertical side lines and the increase of the size of locations to 1500 feet square, giving a man fifty acress in a claim, but he would not allow consolidation before the necessary patentiag work had been done on individual claims.

Mr. Kennedy then question Mr. Terhune on the labor union question briefly sind then touched a new point by inquiring:

"Do you know of any religious organization which teaches its people that labor organizations tend to an arolig?"

Never heard of such a thing," said the witness.

The witness was then questioned regarding the profits of mining here as compared with other states; asked to give his opinion regarding patentiag the profits of mining here as compared with other states; asked to give his opinion regarding patentiag the profits of mining here as compared with other states; asked to give his opinion regarding patentiag the profits of mining here as compared with other states; asked to give his opinion regarding patentiague.
